'City Charter Challenge' Citizens Group Formed

ROMULUS--A meeting held last Wednesday night saw the beginning of a movement against the proposed Romulus City Charter up for voter approval May 7.

The campaign was organized under the leadership of Terry L. Trout, former township supervisor and a Charter Commission member.

Those joining Trout in his effort against the charter are: Robert Plank, co-chairman; Mrs. Florence Allen, secretary; James Stewart, township trustee; Arthur McCall, Lawrence Plank and Mrs. Patricia Lucke, who are serving on the finance committee.

The group has chosen the name "Charter Challenge Committee" and their purpose is to present facts to support their contention that the document that is being presented to the voters on May 7 is not in the best interest of the taxpayers.

"I think the most important thing is the tax rate," said Trout. "No one really knows what it says."

Of the 42 candidates that are running for office, not more than approximately 10 have actually seen the charter, he alleged.

"One candidate talks about 8 1/2 mills, another talks about 10, while the charter allows for 10 mills, plus the already voted 1 1/2 mills for police operation, 1 3/10 mills now allocated to the township, that will go elsewhere should the charter be approved, making 12.8 mills a more realistic figure.

Add to this three mills for water and four mills for sewer and your actually talking about 19.8 mills, or $19.80 per assessed valuation."

He pointed out further, that the township is now being operated at a 3.2 millage.

"Remember," said Trout, "You will continue to pay for street lights, chloride, weed cutting and installing and repairing of sidewalks."

He also pointed out the inflationary trends of the time aggravated by cut backs in overtime and the fact that many people are actually out of work as reasons why an increased local tax burden should not be inflicted on the people.

"Everyone can look forward to higher taxes anyway, due to the state equalization factor," he said, "and from all indications, there will be a substantial increase in the state income tax. Most people just can't afford any more taxes."

Trout feels that some voters may be stampeded into accepting the charter, based on a fear of annexation to neighboring communities, who are pictured by proponents of the charter as poised to annex choice industrial lands on May 8, should the charter fail to be accepted.

Trout sees this as a fallacy, citing that November would be the earliest date that annexation procedures could begin to take place.

He asserts that even then a vote must be held and passed by a majority of voters of the area to be annexed and the area attempting annexation; counted separately.

Even that eventuality could be avoided, according to Trout, by simply filing a new petition for another term for the charter commission. Such action would forestall annexation attempts for another two years.

"What are the people going to get for their money?" asked Trout. "Four of the nine members on the Charter Commission are seeking office," he said. The Councilmen will be the highest paid in Michigan at $3,000 a year.

The Mayor will receive $17,500, plus Hospital Insurance, Life Insurance, Sick Benefits, (in addition to his regular salary) plus expenses."

Smith Backs Charter

ROMULUS--Calling the proposed City Charter for Romulus "the bootstrap by which we can lift ourselves up," Roderick E. Smith, Romulus supervisor and candidate for mayor in the City Incorporation election May 7, Monday urged every voter to support and vote YES on cityhood for Romulus.

In a communication being prepared for local delivery, Smith, as township supervisor, presented some of his observations on the proposed Charter awaiting Governor Milliken's signature.

The provisions set forth in the Charter afford local taxpayers every conceivable protection that good government can need. The checks and balances provide both the mayor and the council with all the tools necessary to carry out the wishes of the electorate, Smith stated.

He said, "While I do not personally agree with every detail of the proposed Charter, I firmly believe that it was impossible to expect a nine-man Charter Commission to be in total accord on every facet of the Charter. I think they did an excellent job in agreeing to the wishes of the majority in documenting the Charter to which they gave final approval."

He reported to township residents that the Charter sets up limitations that are specific and meaningful.

Citing one instance, he said that the tax limitation means only that 10 mills is the most the city council can allocate. A prudent council, he added, "is only going to allocate what they determine necessary, because they are responsible to and must answer to the people."

The proposed Charter completely separates the Legislative and Administrative responsibilities and establishes authority, duties and controls which must be exercised. It also provides the means by which we can protect our boundaries and prevent other communities from raiding our excellent tax base, Smith stated.

"But most importantly," Smith's communication said, "acceptance of the Charter means that Romulus will gain rights and authority a hundred-fold as a city, rights and authority which are so pertinent to a growing community and which give us stronger legs to stand on and a louder voice to be heard."

Survey

ROMULUS--Beginning April 6, 1970 The Romulus Township Urban Renewal Department is again making house to house contacts with Wayne-Beverly residents. The canvassing began April 6.

Every house and dwelling unit in the area bounded by Chamberlain, Beverly Road, Howe Rd. and Van Born Rd., will be visited.

These visits will serve a twofold purpose, it will be used to insure that we have data on every resident in Project I of the General Neighborhood Renewal Area, whether the home is new or old, and UR office will be bringing residents up to date on the program.

Residents will be told what the structural rating of their residence is, and if it is to remain. Any questions they have will be answered, and other appointments set up for future meetings whenever necessary. The UR program is not yet ready to

Township Accepts Petition For Referendum On Zoning

ROMULUS -- Petitions seeking a referendum vote on a recently approved new Zoning Ordinance for Romulus were accepted by the township board April 6, but no formal action was taken pending further proceedings and study.

A motion made by Trustee Jimmie Raspberry to table the matter of the referendum vote request until the next board meeting to permit the township attorney, township assessor and all parties concerned to proceed with their verification of petitions, was approved by a vote of 6 to 1. Trustee James Stewart voted against the motion.

Residents residing in the Middlebelt and Van Born Rds., area where a mobile home zoning classification is designated in the new Zoning Ordinance are initiating the referendum campaign. They are complaining that zoning the area for mobile homes when two mobile home parks are already there would put a heavy burden on the school system and increase property taxes.

The new zoning ordinance approved Feb. 26, by the township board and planning commission, contains all the incorporated changes agreed to by the board and planners at a public meeting.

The referendum petition filed with the township clerk Alfred J. Perry by Mrs. Florence Allen, of 28684 Beverly Rd., contained 1,449 signatures.

The zoning ordinance became effective upon publication on March 12.

Democrats Hold Meeting

ROMULUS--The Romulus Democratic Club will hold a meeting April 16 at 8 p.m.

Alfred J. Perry, township clerk and president of the local Democratic Club announced that the Charter Commission members have been invited.

Letters have been sent to each Charter Commission member and they have been requested to return a self-addressed post card stating whether or not they could be present. Five had done so by edition time Monday.

Perry stated that there are many questions being asked about the Charter, how much will taxes go up, what kind of government will we have, will we have Civil Service and what new services will be provided, etc.

At this point with the Charter awaiting the governor's signature in Lansing and not yet distributed to the public, Charter Commissioners are the only persons qualified to answer these questions.

The meeting is open to the public and refreshments will be served. The meeting place is the V.F.W. Hall located on Huron River Drive, near Kelsey Hayes.

All citizens are urged to attend this meeting and find out the true answers to any questions you may have about the new City Charter.

Both new and old line Democrats are urged to be present.

A POSTHUMOUS PRESENTATION for Sergeant First Class Gerald W. Durtka, 28, killed in action in Vietnam, Oct. 30, 1969, was held recently at Ephrata Cemetery, Ephrata, Wash. Sgt. Durtka, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Durtka of 6874 Haggerty Rd., attended Belleville High School. Capt. Frank R. Longobardi from the Yakima Firing Center, Washington, D.C. presented Mrs. Christa Durtka, Sgt. Durtka's widow, and their two children, Suzanne and Stephan, the Purple Heart, the National Defense Ribbon, the Vietnam Campaign Medal, the Vietnam Service Medal and the Qualifying Badge for Automatic Rifle. Mrs. Durtka plans to remain in Ephrata.

ENACT Takes Challenge

'The Decade Of Decision' Confronts Us All In 1970's

BY LEE SMITS
Special Writer

We are now into "The Decade of Decision".

The 1970's have been given that title by leading scientists. It is the serious belief of some of the best minds in America that we are engaged in genocide on a vast scale. One prominent ecologist gives us 35 years before the earth is no longer habitable.

Poisoning of air and water — crowding the habitat — reduction of the food-growing resources, plus population explosion: all these, they tell us, spell doom.

Comes one more item of bad news — The Canadian government condemns fish from Lake Erie because of mercury pollution. This only a few days after Lake St. Clair fish were banned for the same reason.

Not merely in the management of Michigan's natural resources, but in all phases of social history, progress has been made by way of one crisis after another; each crisis being met and solved just as it seemed hopeless.

Is the outlook totally hopeless? Oh, no. It never will be while the spirit of man endures. Opposition to the spoiling forces keeps growing.

Not only do sportsmen's organizations, nature-lovers, educators warn and deplore but there are signs that now a new and powerful force has taken up the challenge.

This new force calls itself ENACT. It contradicts the allegation of a generation gap. Enact — Environmental Action for Survival — makes this announcement from its Michigan headquarters in Ann Arbor:

"We seek to stimulate a widespread awareness of the delicate balance upon which life on this earth depends, and of the rapidity with which man is destroying this balance. Our goal is action — prompt, priority action to turn back the tide of environmental destruction and heedless population growth that threatens the survival of our species."

Enact maintains a Washington headquarters and has arranged for a nationwide teach-in to be held in Washington April 22. "We urge," says Enact, "all students — high school, junior college or university — to join in this national effort."

It could well be that Enact is the best news in a long time for Outdoor America.

One way to offset depressing developments is to recall a time when things were a lot worse. An old-timer remembers enormous progress in the public attitude toward natural resources. As an example, look at a small-town spring event of the last century — the "side hunt".

Merchants on the west side of Main Street competed with east side businessmen in a day of gunning, with anything that had fur or feathers as a legitimate target. Scores were kept — so many points for a bluejay, so many for a jacksnipe, rabbit, squirrel. The weekly newspaper had a front-page story on the hunt. The losing side treated the winners to an oyster supper, served by church ladies.

That was in a long-ago era. That sort of senseless killing would be unthinkable today. We have come a long way in the last few years.

The unemployment rate in OKLAHOMA is 3.2%.

you because I feel very strongly about another little note I read April 1, in this paper.

Would you want your child to be taught sex in the streets by your neighborhood "dirty old man", or in a classroom where it would be taught openly and properly? It should be slightly brought up in their first year of school and gradually brought out more as the years go on.

Why do you keep trying to put down everything we do? We are only trying to change ways of learning so that a person who wants to learn more is able to. As for the person who doesn't want to, he should be sent to school where he can at least be exposed to education.

Boy, this really hit me hard, people putting down the way an educated man looks.

If a person knows what he's talking about, he should be free to look any way he wants, and if you're worried about what impression it's going to have on your child, it won't have any because school is supposed to help students think for themselves and not follow blindly what another person does.

Let me ask this: "Why do you people want to always fight something? Why don't you let progress go as it may? Can't you drop your fighting ways and try to enjoy life for once?" You can if you really want to, you know!

'Cityhood Makes 'Sense'

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following submitted by Felix P. Rogalle, chairman of Romulus Charter Commission, is the second of a series of articles on the proposed City Charter up for voter decision in a special election scheduled May 7.)

By FELIX P. ROGALLE
Chairman, Charter Commission

There are a lot of pages and a lot of words in Romulus' proposed City Charter.

We think they are all just plain common sense.

The State authorities who have completed review and acceptance of the document have called it "one of the most comprehensive and best prepared documents ever to come before us."

That's indeed a well deserved tribute to the many individuals who helped put the charter together.

We think it should be an added confidence builder for voters who, because of the time involved in legal preparation of the document, have not had either opportunity or time to analyze it for themselves.

Basically, what we've said in Romulus' Charter is that we believe this community has great potential - and we've set down a series of principles which will guarantee the Romulus residents the maximum benefits of that potential.

If accepted, the Charter will guarantee taxpayers a limit on what they can be taxed. That limit is 10 mills and, quite possibly, need never be approached in view of Romulus' existing industrial wealth and the added industry and commerce coming in every day.

The Romulus resident with $20,000 property now pays only $28 a year in municipal operating taxes (2.8 mills) - and that could be increased as a City only by whatever added services the residents ask.

On the other hand, there is an estimated $292,000 in State Gas & Weight (license plate) taxes that Romulus would be eligible to receive as a City that now goes to the County for maintenance of roads.

It isn't official, but some expert estimates are that Romulus is currently getting less than $100,000 a year in attention to roads. The County, which currently handles that service, could be chartered to continue handling it for a while UNDER LOCAL CONTROL OF FUNDS.

The most pressing problem any community needs to consider is that of SAFE STREETS AND NEIGHBORHOODS for its citizens.

Romulus residents have the ideal opportunity to develop such a safe community. Commerce and industry already pays three fourths (75 percent) of the total of local tax support - and it is interested in seeing this aspect of the community develop. It wants nice, safe neighborhoods for its employees - and stable government for its own operations.

The Charter offers certain controls over airport expansion and protection for the boundaries, assuring that ALL PEOPLE WITHIN Romulus will continue to share in its industrial wealth (not the outsiders).

The Charter sets new and stronger provisions for citizen reaction to ordinances and legislation passed by government. The provisions for referendum are to be spelled out in each action - and published.

The Charter spells out not only the authority, but also the duties and responsibilities, of the administrative and legislative figures in government.

And it guarantees elections on a non-partisan basis to force candidates for office to campaign on issues and performances - not political party allegiances.

It establishes controls and means for Romulus to properly develop, progress, become and function as a model community.

To those of us on the Charter Commission, these things are what we feel we were put on the Commission to formulate.

We think that makes sense...and we think the Charter makes sense.

Don't you?

About 11 billion more cigarettes will be consumed this year than last, the Department of Agriculture predicts.

"There are a lot of benefits in cityhood, but it's basically just a matter of common sense," Wallis said.

"Townships were never intended to be self governing. Initially they were nothing more than a State land survey, designed to partition land off in 36 square mile areas.

"The so-called government which has emanated since then is State controlled, not local controlled, and is a hodge podge collection of emergency statutes and amendments to them."

WALLIS IS ONE "politician" in Romulus government for which the proposed City incorporation has little or no personal involvement.

If incorporation passes, Wallis would be out of a job on May 25 anyway - the date set for the changeover.

If not, Wallis becomes 62 on May 6, the day before the incorporation election, and is eligible for retirement.

And he plans to take it!

WALLIS ANNOUNCED this past week that he would not be seeking re-election again. And if Charter is not accepted, he probably would ROMULUS -- City incorporation got another, and important, endorsement this past week. It comes from Joseph Wallis, Romulus Township Treasurer and longtime respected member of the community and the Democratic Party.

As Treasurer and Township Board Member for the past seven years, Wallis has been the gent most acutely aware of Romulus' financial affairs.

And as a former building official and member of the Township's Planning Commission for 15 years - its secretary for the past 10 - Wallis is completely knowledgeable about the community's building problems and potential.

He should. He's been a part of every major development there for a decade and a half.

WITH ALL THIS behind him, Wallis came out strongly this week urging Romulus citizens to adopt the proposed Charter and cityhood form of government.

not be serving out his full term until November anyway.

"It has been a fairly long and fruitful career and I'm very thankful to the voters and people of Romulus who have given me the opportunity of being of service," he says.

"I suppose the thing everyone misses most in retiring from a position that he has been with so long is the large number of friends and associations that have been built up in that time.

"I know I will!"

WALLIS, A builder by trade, and his wife, Helen, came to Romulus 18 years ago. They built their own home at 30001 Eureka Road in 1951 and have lived there since.

Helen doesn't spread it around, but everyone knows she's one of the townships busiest mushroom hunters.

They have two sons. Raymond, who graduated from Western Michigan, is with the State Social Services, Wayne County General Hospital. William, a UM grad, is employed at Chrysler Engineering in Highland Park.

Since 1948, Joe and Helen have owned property on a lake near Atlanta, Mich., where Joe is building a cottage and plans someday - although not necessarily suddenly - to retire to.

"ROMULUS IS our home and it means a lot to us," Joe says.

"People who haven't been actively involved in the business of trying to make a municipal operation out of township form of government probably won't appreciate fully what a struggle it can be.

"The voters owe it to themselves to accept the Charter and give themselves a chance for proper, orderly growth. I believe it is a good charter.

Wallis Backs Charter; Urges Support

"I know people are concerned about taxes - so am I. But I also know that the cost isn't necessarily any higher. Municipal government is really the cheapest tax there is for the good it can do. And I believe the voters will make good decisions in electing people who will make wise decisions for them."

WALLIS IS ANOTHER in the line of major Democrats of the township to publicly endorse the proposed Charter and its non-partisan provisions.

A properly planned garden 20 feet by 50 feet in size should provide most of the table needs for two people, according to Michigan State University horticulturists.

"In the old days, we needed and had strong partisan organizations," he reflects. "I can remember when I was chairman of membership for the Romulus Democratic Club we had over 750 paid up members at one time.

"I still believe in the Democratic Party and what it stands for - but I also believe that service to people is the first and most important aspect of government.

"I think the City Charter will give that to people of Romulus and I strongly and sincerely hope the voters will give it the support it needs.

"It's one of the things they can do themselves to best assure the kind of government they want!"

Judge Stone Tells Of 'Pep Pills' Effect

(Editor's Note: The following submitted by District Judge James B. Stone of the 34th District Court (Romulus) is the sixth of a series of articles on the problems of narcotics which has been in the forefront of current news reports.)

When drug abuse is mentioned, most people automatically think of the "hard" drugs, opium, morphine and heroin.

Few people consider the many non-narcotic drugs which, when administered in the proper doses under a physician's care, have a therapeutic effect. However, when abused—taken without professional supervision—these drugs can aggravate personal and social problems.

Among the most widely abused non-narcotic drugs are amphetamines, commonly called "pep-pills."

Amphetamines have chemical properties that stimulate (speed) the actions of the central nervous system. In many ways, the effects of amphetamines contrast with those of another non-narcotic drug—barbiturates; barbiturates slow down (depress) the actions of the central nervous system.

Amphetamines are used medically to (1) curb the appetite when weight reduction is necessary; (2) relieve mild depression; and (3) keep patients awake in narcolepsy, a disease characterized by uncontrollable desire to sleep.

Although the efficacy of amphetamines in these cases has not been questioned, controversy surrounds their ultimate value since, when taken over a long period of time, the patient might develop dependence upon the drug—particularly if he violates his physician's precautions.

Various reasons for amphetamine abuse have been documented, including: for "thrills" especially as taken in a social setting; for the effects obtained from taking amphetamines in combination with other drugs, including alcohol; as substitutes when other narcotic supplies are temporarily cut off; to give the feeling of increased strength and endurance and reduction of fatigue during athletic performances; and, to ward off sleep.

The amphetamine-dependent person is usually—consciously or unconsciously—trying to attain relief from fatigue, increased mental alertness, sense of well-being (euphoria), and/or relief from emotional depression.

Known amphetamine offenders include teens and young adults (oftentimes using pills for all-night test-cramping), long distance truck drivers, and drug addicts (taking stimulants intravenously).

Amphetamines result in excitability, unclear or rapid speech, restlessness, tremor of the hands, enlarged pupils, sleeplessness and profuse perspiration for the user who exceeds prescribed doses.

Although physical dependence does not appear to result from amphetamine abuse, psychological dependence may occur, oftentimes resulting in social, economic and emotional deterioration for the chronic abuser.

An acute psychosis—characterized by auditory or visual hallucinations or both—may develop from amphetamine abuse, particularly when excessive daily doses have been taken over prolonged periods.

Two cents. That's all it takes to clean an oven these days. That is, if you have a new Gas self-cleaning range. You see, this new range will clean itself. By itself. For about two cents.

And it's all done automatically. It literally cooks itself clean. And you never lift a finger. Not bad, huh? And that's only part of it.

Of course, the reason for buying a Gas range is cooking. It's simply the best there is. In all ways. Temperature control. Instant heat. Smokeless broiling. And Gas is faster. And less expensive than electricity.

So, if you're ready to quit. Be our guest. See the Gas range that cleans itself. It's perfect for people who like to cook, period. See them at dealer or Michigan Consolidated Gas Company showrooms. Cook with Gas... it'll serve you right.

Honeymoon At The Falls Spring Nuptials Unite Paul Studer, Sue Clark

The First United Methodist Church of Ypsilanti was reserved March 28 for the afternoon nuptial ceremony which united Susan Renee Clark and Paul Leo Studer in holy matrimony. Double ring vows were exchanged before an altar appointed with two gold vases of pink and white carnations and snapdragons.

Mr. Kenneth Callis presided at the two o'clock wedding and Mrs. Blaine Ballard provided traditional bridal music for the occasion.

THE DAUGHTER of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde R. Clark, Sr. of 46032 Chatsworth Drive, Belleville, Susan was escorted to the sanctuary by her father.

For her wedding day she selected a formal gown of dulcette satin fashioned in the empire mode with Venise lace accenting the high-necked bodice and banding the long, fitted sleeves. Back interest was created with the use of a chapel train which cascaded from the shoulders.

Her bouffant veil of silk illusion drifted to elbow length from a headpiece of white satin bows and Venise lace petals encrusted with seed pearls.

A cascade bouquet of white roses, and stephanotis, completed her bridal finery.

Sharon Studer of Ypsilanti sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor and Mrs. Clyde Clark, Jr. of Belleville, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor.

Their white chiffon empire frocks were designed with high-rise waistlines, long puffy sleeves, puffy collars and formal-length pleated skirts. Azalea velvet ribbon traced the high-rise waistlines and cascaded to the hemline.

Azalea satin bows held their shoulder-length veils and they carried colonial nosegays of azalea and white mums.

Appearing in identical frocks with rose-colored accents, headpieces, and bouquets were the two bridal attendants, Nancy Corzine of Belleville and Mary Damman of Grosse Pointe, the bride's former roommate.

The bridegroom's 10-year old sister, Kimberly, was junior bridesmaid. Her bouquet was comprised of pink and white flowers.

Six-year old Patricia Clark served as flowergirl at her aunt's wedding. The white wicker basket she carried was filled with rose petals and accented with pink ribbons.

Another junior member of the wedding party was eight-year old Jeffrey Clark, nephew of the bride, who carried out the role of ringbearer.

THE BRIDEGROOM, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Studer of 12783 Lake Pointe Pass, Belleville, chose the bride's brother, James Clark, to be best man. Others on the esquire side were Clyde Clark, Jr. of Belleville, another of the bride's brothers; and Stephen Coffelt and Kenneth Bleeker, also of Belleville.

The Stratford Room of Inn America, Ann Arbor, was the setting for the reception which followed. Some 160 guests were received by Mrs. Clark in an aqua lace ensemble with matching accessories. Mrs. Studer wore for her son's wedding a spring floral print with bone accessories. Both mothers added corsages of white cymbidium orchids to their outfits.

LIFE HEALTH

The Chiropractic Adjustment

The chiropractor is a student of the body's vast nervous system. Medical science knows that bodily functions are controlled by nerve energy impulses from the brain through the spinal cord to all parts of the body.

The spinal cord runs down through the spinal column. The spine is composed of 24 movable segments called vertebrae. Between the vertebrae are soft cushions called discs which act as ball bearings and shock absorbers.

When any one or more of the vertebrae of the spine are displaced, nerve pressure results. Nerve fibres are impinged, and vital organs are affected. The chiropractor uses scientific methods to locate the displaced vertebrae. Once located, he gently manipulates the vertebrae—using only his competent hands—to return the vertebra to its proper position in relation to the remainder of the spine. Once the vertebra is back in position, pressure is relieved, and the impinged nerve is free to perform its normal function.

The "adjustment" is simple, gentle and painless. Actually, most persons who have undergone chiropractic adjustments have found that already-present pain is greatly relieved, if not completely eliminated, by the first adjustment.

It is simple and quick; and it performs wonders in restoring that healthy, happy feeling. Another Health and Life Article from the Office of:

Vitamin Packed

Meat is noted for being an excellent source of protein, but it has much more to offer nutritionally. It's an excellent source of B-vitamins, including the "pep" vitamin, thiamin. Pork is the best source of this vitamin, but other meats also supply important amounts.

Weight Watching Diet Should Include Bread

When most women decide to trim away a few extra pounds, they make the mistake of cutting whole groups of foods out of their diet.

"Two common diet eliminations are milk and dairy products and breads and cereals. But these foods have to be considered in relation to nutrients as well as calories contributed to any diet," according to Michigan State University nutritionist Anita Dean.

"We depend on bread and cereals for much of the B vitamins and iron which are essential to health," she says. "Be sure such foods are enriched or made from whole grains, so you get the most nutrition for the calorie cost."

Mrs. Dean advises checking labels for the word "enriched" or the ingredient "enriched flour" on such items as muffin mixes, pancake flour, macaroni or frozen bread dough.

"Dieting includes counting nutrients as well as calories," Mrs. Dean says. "Minimum servings from the four basic food groups (milk, meat and eggs, cereals and breads, and fruits and vegetables) will provide all the nutrients you require and can contribute as few as 1150 to 1200 calories."

Kline Opens His Campaign Before Romulus Students

ROMULUS--Charles R. Kline, candidate for election to the position of City Treasurer, opened his official campaign with an invitation talk to the student body and faculty members of Romulus Junior High School last Thursday.

The talk given was geared for the Michigan History and Civics classes of Mrs. Justina Kavanaugh and Thomas Colarossi.

Kline gave his projected plans and programs for the running of his campaign as an independent candidate, and his thoughts and views on the major issues that confront Romulus in the accepting of the new city charter and in the candidates themselves.

He had cancelled some of his appointments to be able to make this speaking engagement because of the fact that he feels the students of today are the individuals that must be considered first and foremost, because what we do today will affect them tomorrow.

Education has been one of his chief concerns.

Without proper education and training the young people of today shall be the poverty stricken of tomorrow," Kline said.

The major questions raised by the student body were that of city charter and of the benefits that might be derived from it. Kline had explained to the students that the system of township is good for agricultural areas but not for industrial complexes such as is now in evidence in Romulus.

To further aid his campaign program, Kline later served coffee at his home, which now serves as his headquarters. Some fifteen people attended to discuss the city charter and to meet the candidate.

The coffee servings will be held every Thursday evening at 8 p.m. at 30282 Cherry Ave., Diamond Point Development, for all interested people and people who are concerned. He and his staff invite all registered and non-registered voters, to come and meet with him.

"This is your community and what occurs next month shall affect everyone. Whom we elect is the key to the future for Romulus," Kline stated.

He added that Romulus may be small in population today, but this growth rate factor is continuing and shall continue. The city of Romulus, and the people, need progressive front line experienced professional people at the helm in order to direct this community for future growth and development.

Kline feels that he is more than duly qualified for the position of City Treasurer, a position that requires foresight and projective planning ability.

For Constitutional Change

BELLEVILLE—Initiative petitions for an amendment to Michigan's Constitution prohibiting the use of public funds for private schools are being circulated in the Belleville-Van Buren Township areas.

The petition drive is sponsored by the Council Against Parochialism, Lansing, and supported by the Michigan Education Association.

In a recent representative assembly, the MEA requested local MEA chapters to assume direction of the constitutional amendment drive in their respective school districts.

Roland Wolfe, president of the Van Buren Education Association, has been appointed local school district chairman. He announced last week the appointment of area chairmen. They are:

Dale Wojcie, Elwell Elementary School; Mrs. Elaine Greubel, Rawsonville Elementary School; Mrs. Mary Innes, Sumpter Elementary School; Sherman Funk, West Willow Elementary School; Mrs. Mary Ann Bassett, Edgemont Elementary School; Mrs. Tom Weedon, Haggerty Road Elementary School; and Gerald Cullen, Quirk Elementary School.

Deadline for filing the petitions is May 28, Wolfe reported.

Michigan lawmakers have approved some $22 million dollars for non-public schools. Distribution of these funds have not as yet been made. State lawmakers are checking means to carry it out by studying various tax raising methods.

Backers of the campaign state that the state constitution prohibits expenditure of public funds for private schools, but some legislators have found means to do so and won legislative approval.

The petition seeks to amend the state constitution is as follows:

Article 8, Section 2. No public monies or property shall be appropriated or paid or any public credit utilized, by the legislature or any other political subdivision or agency of the state directly or indirectly to aid or maintain any private, denominational or other non-public, pre-elementary, elementary, or secondary school. No payment, credit, tax benefit, exemption or deduction, tuition voucher, subsidy, grant or loan of public monies or property shall be provided, directly or indirectly, to support the attendance of any student or the employment of any person at any such nonpublic school or at any location or institution where instruction is offered in whole or in part to such nonpublic school students. The legislature may provide for the transportation of students to and from any school.

Our Readers Write

TO THE EDITOR:

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

Recently in this paper we were fortunate enough to read an article (Letter to the Editor, Wednesday's issue, April 1.) pertaining to the Huron School District.

Many problems were expressed in that article, but not as many as should have been mentioned. Many people have expressed concern over some of our school problems.

We think that those problems mentioned were important, but have you people forgotten our bout with the SDS being allowed to lecture our young people?

Please read the following article carefully and evaluate it yourself.

Recently George A. Brautigan, a Florida public official, published communist rules for revolution, obtained from a Communist.

The rules were republished by the Illinois Veterans of Foreign Wars News. The rules were said to have been captured in Dusseldorf by allied forces in 1919, 50 years ago. They read, in part:

"A. Corrupt the young, get them away from religion. Get them interested in sex. Make them superficial. Destroy their ruggedness.

"B. Get control of all means of publicity and thereby: "1. Get people's minds off their government by focusing their attention on athletics, sexy books and plays, and other trivialities.

"2. Divide the people into hostile groups by constantly harping on controversial matters of no importance.

"3. Destroy the people's faith in their natural leaders by holding the latter up to contempt, ridicule, and obloquy.

"4. Always preach true democracy but seize power as fast and ruthlessly as possible.

"5. By encouraging government extravagance, destroy its credit, produce fear of inflation with rising prices and general discontent.

"6. Foment unnecessary strikes in vital industries, encourage civil disorders, and foster a lenient and soft attitude on the part of the government toward such disorders.

"7. By specious argument cause breakdown of the old moral virtues: honesty, sobriety, continence, faith in the pledged word, ruggedness.

"C. Cause the registration of all firearms on some pretext, with a view to confiscating them and leaving the population helpless."

These rules are not new. They have been published from time to time and laughed at as inventions or something that alarmists found looking under their beds.

Yet, we can wonder if the pattern set in 1919 is not coming to pass perilously close to the communist pattern.

The past cannot be undone, but it should be examined in the light of the present and to guide us in clarifying the future. It is up to every citizen to ponder the rules and to decide whether the time has come to exercise vigilance and restraint, or whether we approve the shift in values and goals.

Never Ending Cycle

As I understand it, we were an underdeveloped country 180 years ago with a population of 3 million. While we were underdeveloped, some of the now underdeveloped countries were then developed. Now that they are underdeveloped, we are becoming underdeveloped helping those underdeveloped countries become developed again.

When we finally become underdeveloped and the underdeveloped nations are developed, I wonder if they will come to our aid.

Justin Emerson, Chairman of the Nominating Committee, reports the following candidates, who have agreed to serve if elected on April 30, ANNUAL FUN NIGHT MEETING: They are:

Lady: "Really? Then tell him his wife is here."

Two city slickers traveling through hillbilly country, entered a general store. Expecting to fleece the proprietor, they asked if he could change an $18 bill. Without batting an eye, he replied: "Sure. How do you want it...three $6 bills, or two $9 bills?"

Mrs. McKee Gets 3 Year Sentence

BELLEVILLE—Mrs. Mary McKee, preparer of income tax returns, was sentenced last Wednesday, by U.S. District Judge Thomas P. Thornton, in U.S. District Court, Detroit.

Mrs. McKee stood silent as Judge Thornton remanded her to the custody of the U.S. Attorney General for a period of three years.

After a three month period, during which she will undergo psychiatric testing, a final determination will be made as to where she will serve the remainder of her sentence.

Mrs. McKee's personal bond of $5,000 was continued and she was released pending completion of her appeal. Judge Thornton warned Mrs. McKee that if she engaged in any further illegal activities he would have her bond cancelled.

Mrs. McKee, operator of M.McKee Bookkeeping and Tax Service, 4950 Textile Road, Ypsilanti, was convicted in January, 1970, on 15 counts of assisting in preparation of fraudulent income tax returns for her clients.

During the trial former clients charged that Mrs. McKee claimed income tax exemptions for non-existent dependents, deductions for non-existent employees, and depreciation expenses for non-existent assets.

A total of 49 witnesses testified in the jury trial that lasted six days, Assistant U.S. Attorney Larry Keenan, reported.

The Government contends that as a result of examining income tax returns prepared by Mrs. McKee for her clients it has recovered in excess of $700,000 in additional taxes and penalties.

The total population of OKLAHOMA is 2,475,000 — the 27th most populous state.

Charter Election Candidates

Troop 739 Begins Fund Campaign

ROMULUS--Forty three candidates are vying for various posts in the City Incorporation Election scheduled for May 7, in Romulus.

Thy proposed City Charter, expected to be formally signed by Governor Milliken in Lansing tomorrow, calls for a strong mayor type of government with clerk, treasurer and seven council members.

In this week's issue we present background material on three more council candidates. Backgrounds on candidates will be published as soon as the information is available.

DUBISKY, Harold H., 36, a lifetime resident of Romulus is running for public office for the first time. He resides at 37815 Wabash, with his wife, Sylvia, and their four children: Robert, 13; Raymond, 12; Harold, 9; and Lynn, three and one half.

He is a graduate of Romulus High 1951, and Electronic Institute, 1958. Employed as an electronic technician at Burroughs Corporation, Dubisky is owner of Hal's Market. His employment is design and development of computers and banking machines.

He served in the Army from 1953 to 1955. In answering why he seeks the office, Dubisky said:

"I entered this election because if this township becomes a city, I believe I can do the job this town needs. I am a person who is conservative with money and want people running the city who are the same way. I believe in helping kids in every way to keep them from running the streets. I also believe that anyone who is in office or works for the city should try to help a homeowner in every way and not give them the run around."

Council

On taxes, Dubisky stated that present taxes are too high and if Romulus becomes a city, taxes will be higher, but adds that "we need people in office to hold them down."

He said that he would improve recreational programs and provide police protection where it is not presently available.

DICK, Charles, J. Jr., 33, single, is a community resident for 24 years. He lives at 34449 California and is a member of the present Charter Commission.

Dick is a graduate of Romulus Senior High School, attended Henry Ford Community College and Eastern Michigan University. He graduated from college in 1958 with a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration.

He is presently employed at Commission on Professional and Hospital Activities, Ann Arbor.

He is a past member of the Industrial and Commercial Development Commission, Romulus, 1967-68; and Community Health Commission, 1966-68. He is a Jaycee and was past president and secretary as well as State Jaycee president and recipient of many Jaycee awards.

In commenting on his candidacy, Dick said "I decided to seek the position of councilman because of my interest in government and because we need different age group of people on the council."

He added, "I feel I am qualified for the position because of my activity in community affairs and college background. I want to see the city grow in a systemized way not in an unstable manner which township government offers."

He said the major issues in this campaign are: should not Romulus become a city because of all the advantages a city form of government offers such as more local control over matters heretofore handled by the county? protect present boundaries of a 36-mile city in which the tax base can be spread? A city will have more to say about the Metro Airport, Dick stated.

He said that a city would cost more to run initially but over the long run, cost to taxpayers will be less.

MITTON, Gordon H., 39, a resident of Romulus for 19 years. He resides at 10851 Wayne Rd.

Mitton is a registered architect and designer with T.R. Jahr Associates, architects and engineers. He attended both Romulus grade and high schools, Eastern Michigan University and University of Michigan where he received his Bachelor of Architecture degree.

He is a member of the Kiwanis, U of M Alumni of Dearborn and one of its directors, and AIA. He served in the Army Corps of Engineers 1954-56.

In seeking the office of councilman, Mitton said:

"I think that all interested citizens in the community should take a more active part in local government. The adoption of the City Charter will present an opportunity for more people to participate than have in the past."

"I feel that my many years of experience in the construction field qualify me to serve the city in the planning and controlling of future growth that it will take to build a better Romulus."

The main issue is cityhood, Mitton stated, and added that he is in favor of cityhood for Romulus, "because I can think of no reasonable alternative choice at this time. Also it is important that the voters elect progressive independently thinking people to the city government."

ROMULUS--Boy Scout Troop 739, has declared that the month of April 1970, to be fund raising month for the troop.

With this thought in mind the adult members of the troop committee began selling tickets as the first phase of the troop's financial program as planned and projected by Scoutmaster, Charles R. Kline.

The troop committee had sold 500 tickets with half going into the troop treasury and the remainder going as prize money.

On April 6, at 7:42 p.m., ticket No. 132, belonging to Walter McGee of Detroit, was drawn as the winning ticket. The troop congratulated McGee and thanked the other unselfish individuals who had purchased tickets in order to promote the financial stability of another Boy Scout Troop. McGee won $250.

Scoutmaster Kline states that this is the first time in Troop 739's short history in which it is now financially independent and secure.

At the beginning in December, 1969, all the fathers had either donated or loaned money to the troop to begin its operations. At that time the scoutmaster had declared that nothing over three dollars was to be donated, but rather loaned to the troop for an indefinite period of time until more secure financing could be secured.

With this first phase of "Fund Raising April" over and a success and all past debts are paid, needed equipment is being purchased. A bugle has been secured.

Added to the above success of the ticket sale, the ranks of Troop 739 has also increased beyond the hopes of all concerned. The Troop began with seven boys and now has grown to a record number of nineteen boys. Panther Patrol: Gerard Bruckner, Joseph Bruckner, Terry Dyda, David Harmon, Larry Kropat, Gerald McDiarmid, David McLean and Owen McLean.

Hungry Wolves Patrol: Paul Affholter, Michael Bruckner, Kenny Clelland, Douglas Cooper, Steven King, Michael McCallum, Harvey Millar, Dale Mullins and Mark Webb.

Scoutmaster Kline has again closed the troop to any further recruitment and has begun a waiting list for any boy desiring to enter Troop 739 for the future.

In coordination with the month of April as Fund Raising Month, Kline has initiated phase two of the operation, in that of having the scouts sell from house to house, items for every housewife and home ranging in price from one dollar to one-and-a-half dollars. In this operation all the boys, the adult leaders, assistant Scoutmaster Larry Cooper, and some of the fathers, Glenn Mullins in particular have been involved every Saturday.

This sale shall continue until the first of May. This will now enable the troop to purchase the tents, cooking utensils, shovels, canteens, packs and frames that they need. It shall further enable the troop to pay part of the Summer Camp expenses of the boys involved, which otherwise would not have been able to occur.

Of the 35 million people CARE is helping to feed in 1970, almost 26 million are children who are fed regularly in preschool and baby centers, primary schools, hospitals and other institutions. Every dollar sent to CARE Food Crusade, New York 10016, can help feed a child for 3 months.

Home Modernization Tips Detailed By UR Assistant

BY LEONARD FOLMAR
UR Assistant

Spring is here and many homeowners are beginning to think about fixing up the old homestead. Some will be getting out the grass seeder, the rakes and hoes to clean up the yard for summer.

Others will be bringing out the old paint brush, hammer and nails to fix up the home, and yet still others will be thinking of hiring someone to come in and remodel or make additions.

Remodeling to the extent where you have to hire someone to do the work will be costly, especially with prices the way they are today.

Therefore it is extremely important that when you do hire someone, and to be sure you will be getting exactly what you want, you should (1) Contact a company or person who will do a good job and stand behind it, and (2) when you do sign a contract make sure that all the work you want done is listed on that contract.

There are several ways you can assure yourself of getting the best service. They are (1) Get at least three bids on the job. (2) Get bids from companies or persons with well established reputations for good service; or, those recommended to you by a friend who has had work done and is well satisfied with it. (3) Go and see other jobs done by the company or person in question.

Homeowners residing within the urban renewal area should check with the Urban Renewal Department before work is contracted out. There may be code deficiencies in your structure which must be corrected if your home is to remain.

I strongly urge that you come into the office and discuss your plans with us because you may be eligible for a rehabilitation loan or outright grant under the urban renewal program.

Homeowners not in the urban renewal area should check with the township building department.

Home modernization is big business today, and the market is packed with sharp operators who feed on the poor homeowner.

They come to your door with a smooth line about how they can improve the looks, convenience, or value of your home, telling you how easily you can afford it. BEWARE!

There are some don'ts you should observe as well: (1) Don't accept the first bid until you've checked around. (2) Don't sign anything you don't understand. Get someone you trust and who is qualified, such as a lawyer, to explain anything you question. (3) Don't accept anything less than what you agreed to have done to your home.

Bizek Helps To Shape County's National Goals

ROMULUS--Wayne County Commissioner Edmund Bizek, of Romulus, helped shape the national goals of county government at the annual legislative conference of the National Association of Counties (NACO).

Bizek, D-District 24, was among Wayne County's delegates to the three-day conference, held last week in Washington, D.C. He attended as chairman of the transportation, industrial and commercial development committee of the Board of Commissioners.

"We established the need for more Federal financial help for local programs of law enforcement and crime prevention as one of the top-priority items in the national 'county platform' adopted at the conference," Bizek reported.

"This means that the National Association of Counties will concentrate on selling our program to the Administration and the Congress."

Bizek represents the area encompassed by Romulus, Van Buren and Sumpter townships.

The counties want at least $100 million earmarked for construction and improvement of correctional programs, and a big increase in funding of the Federal Office of Juvenile Delinquency.

Hare Gives Reasons

Check Record, Police Urged

Michigan law enforcement agencies have been urged by Secretary of State James M. Hare to "check driver records each time they issue a moving violation ticket" in an effort to "crack down" on motorists driving under suspension or revocation.

"Therefore," he suggested to the police agencies, "we are requesting that you make every effort possible to send a LEIN (Law Enforcement Information Network) message directly to our system every time you issue a violation."

"Suspensions and revocations are rising to new highs," said Hare in a memorandum to all police agencies, "and it's absolutely imperative that officers check records through their car radio each time they issue a moving violation."

Hare praised some police agencies as "doing an excellent job in checking traffic offenders."

"At the same time, I'm afraid that others are not checking as they should. Unless this check is made, we have an impossible situation in trying to control many of Michigan's worst drivers... the persons whom I've labeled incorrigibles."

Hare said an average of 60 checks a day clear his department's computer system, which is linked with LEIN. He noted that at least 3,000 moving violations are issued daily by police.

Hare explained that the Department of State is prepared to handle an increased volume of driver status checks.

Recent studies have shown that 33 out of each 100 suspended and 68 out of each 100 revoked drivers can be expected to drive while they are under suspension or revocation.

ROMULUS—A motion to increase the salaries of three Building Inspectors and Electrical Inspectors to $10,000 per year made at the township board April 8 meeting failed.

The motion was made by Trustee Ellis T. Pennington and was supported by Trustee James Stewart. The motion asked that the salary be increased if the union (Local 64-A of Council 23) would go along and submit a letter stating that it will not request any other employee salary increase.

To Hear Charter Speakers

ROMULUS—The proposed City Charter will be the program topic when Hayti PTA meets on April 20 at Hayti School, 30155 Beverly Rd.

The meeting will begin with refreshments at 7 p.m. Those scheduled to debate the merits of the City Charter will be Felix F. Rogalle and Terry L. Trout.

Hayti PTA, with a membership of more than 200, has been active in providing school and community information to the residents of the area through their newsletter, published monthly.

The City Charter meeting will give residents the opportunity to hear the issue discussed by opponents and proponents of the plan.

Other business to be transacted will be action on the proposed by-laws, which have been revised in keeping with PTA policy that by-laws be updated every three to five years.

in the area of services to those children who are retarded but not educable. Under Shunck's direction, programs were initiated for trainable retarded children under Public Act 221.

Superintendent Schunck and his Board of Education recognized education on a broad philosophical basis and therefore committed themselves to the administration of programs for severely retarded children in contract with the Michigan Department of Mental Health.

The Day Training Programs have grown in scope and sophistication since Superintendent Schunck assumed responsibility on Nov. 1, 1967. Since that time, more than 150 youngsters have been moved from the Day Training Program for severely retarded children to the Trainable Program for mentally retarded children.

Superintendent Schunck and his staff have been able to provide these services to exceptional children in Wayne County by developing an effective cooperative plan including all districts within Wayne County.

WOMEN! You Can Help Fight POLLUTION On Wash Day! DETERGENT FACT SHEET

A great deal of pollution comes from phosphates in the detergents you use. Phosphates fertilize algae and vegetation making the green scum that borders our lakes and rivers. This results in a drastic decrease in the oxygen content of the water and the death of many fish. By using a low phosphate detergent you'll be helping your environment.

Products without or with a low phosphate content.

Of Check-Ups

Official Cites Benefits

"There are people in Wayne County leading normal active lives who are CURED of cancer — that's what the 1970 educational and fund-raising crusade of the American Cancer Society is all about."

Wayne Walker, chairman of the educational and fund raising drive which began April 1, explained, "By cured we mean they are without evidence of the disease at least five years after diagnosis and treatment."

He reported that there are 1.5-million Americans alive today who have been cured of cancer. An additional 700,000 cancer patients, diagnosed and treated within the last five years, will live to enter the ranks of the cured. This means in about three years the "Army of the Cured" will total 2,000,000.

"This is the hopeful message we bring this year. But cancer cures just don't happen by magic. Successful treatment of cancer often depends on early diagnosis. We are out to teach everyone in Wayne County how to help protect themselves by early detection measures — and the importance of the annual health checkup," he said.

As part of this year's Crusade, an army of 2.3-million American Cancer Society volunteers will distribute 45-million leaflets listing cancer safeguards. "We won't use all 45-million here in Wayne County; we'll be happy to have one in each home and business!" Walker said.

How far have we come in the fight against cancer?

He said, "Speaking generally, in 1937 fewer than one out of five cancer patients was being saved. Today it's one out of three. And if we are successful in teaching people the need for early diagnosis and prompt treatment, one out of two cancer patients could be saved."

"To be specific, take one form of cancer, uterine cancer. It was the chief cause of cancer death among American women in 1937. Today, the death rate toll has been cut by more than 60 percent! Reasons for the decline include: the development of the Pap test which can identify uterine cancer before its symptoms appear — a reward of medical research — and ever improving treatment of cancer patients."

Have a checkup and give a check to the American Cancer Society.

Leaps 6' 8 1/4" In High Jump

Pettus Sets Mansfield Record

Belleville's Garrade Pettus didn't waste any time getting into shape for the track season. The 16-year-old junior, coming off a successful basketball year, leaped 6'8 1/4" on Friday to capture the high jump title at the Mansfield Relays.

old Mansfield mark held by Larry Presser of Berkley.

Pettus, who uses the unorthodox Fosbury Flop style, won the title when he successfully cleared 6'6", but he went on to post the record at 6'8 1/4".

Garrade attempted to even better the mark and tried 6'10 3/4" but missed on three consecutive tries.

The versatile athlete became the first athlete in the history of Belleville and the area to ever win a gold medal at the meet held annually at the city in Ohio.

Hundreds of high school trackmen from 10 states and Canada compete in the rugged two-day affair at Mansfield.

"Garrade is in perfect shape," said coach Ken Head who has taken over the coaching assignment from Marland Howard this season. Howard moved out of the state last June.

"We entered him in the long jump and when he didn't qualify, he settled down to the high jumping and he really looked great," said coach Head.

Head said that in dual meet competition, along with high jumping, Pettus also will handle the hurdling and long jumping chores.

"This boy has all the potential in the world and he's still a junior," remarked the Belleville coach.

THE SPORTS MERIDIAN

By Tom Mooradian

"Produce programs — not individuals, and you'll inevitably produce winning teams," says David Court, whose pragmatic coaching philosophy has turned New Boston Huron High School into one of the better basketball schools in the area.

Court came up with a 17-5 won-lost record in the recently concluded cage campaign, leading Huron to its first district Class B championship.

Some pessimist may remark, "So what?" at the accomplishment.

DAVE COURT

But if you take time to look back four years before the Court era, you will discover that Huron had lost 43 straight basketball games, dwelling in the cellar of cage ignominy before the energetic 27-year-old coach stepped in to reverse the tide.

And, if it hadn't been for an injury to 6-8 senior pivotman, Rick Wasilewski, in the final minutes of a close game against River Rouge at the regional playoffs — one can only speculate what could have happened!

Rouge went on to oust Huron 65-55 and captured the regional and state Class B titles.

Huron has come a long way from those lean cage years where defeat was an accepted way of life.

The road up, according to coach Court, after you've been down for some many years, is a difficult — but not an impossible one. Court tackled it in what may be an unorthodox matter.

"First we had to get the community behind these boys — they were losers for so many years, they thought no one cared. And in many ways they were right."

"We talked to civic groups and other organizations and they came through. Some of these people provided us with after-game 'steak meals.' We got together and discussed our problems as well as ate."

"We went to the parents — told them that practice is a tenacious deal, that we needed their help. They also responded."

"And, of course, we worked during the summer months. We produced programs for all the youngsters who wished to participate. Slowly, players and fans began to come around," said Court.

Court added that pupils from the fifth grade and up began enrolling for the summer basketball programs. He made sure that potential varsity players had their niche where they could shoot — and come to him with problems of any nature.

"The kids here in New Boston have now developed pride in what they're doing and once you have that, it's difficult to stop them."

He pointed to River Rouge, a traditional cage powerhouse as a prime example of a school which has "pride" when it comes to basketball.

"And Garden City West is another good example of what a team can do when it sticks together and plays together. 'Togetherness is important because, after all this is a team game,' he said."

Whatever Court's approach — be it pragmatic or otherwise — one must admit it's working at Huron. In three years, he has piled up a 38-20 won-lost record.

Court doesn't claim all the success. He's quick to mention that much of the success must also go to a dedicated coaching staff made up of Hank Smith, Marty Hotvedt and Andy Herman.

A 1966 graduate of Eastern Michigan University, Court and his wife, Alice, hold majors in psychology. Dave also has a masters in administration.

Like many coaches, Court loses sleep when he loses games.

"But lately, we have been fortunate to win more than we lose," he said. "Winning is a pleasant by-product of coaching."

And it's sure a good tranquilizer, huh, coach?

Belleville Sets Swim Club Talks

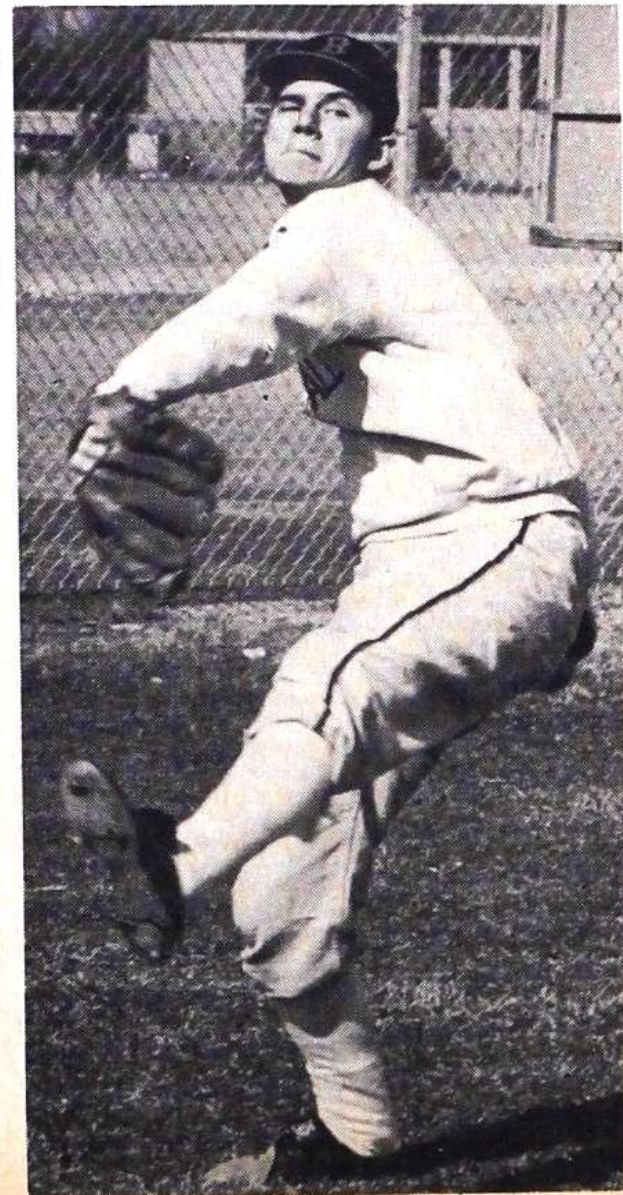

A meeting will be held on Thursday to set the stage to organize an AAU swim club in Belleville. The meeting, scheduled at Belleville High School's cafeteria, will begin at 8 p.m.

Parents in the city have been pushing for such a swim club whose purpose would be to train and compete in AAU sanctioned swimming meets. Bill Brandell, head swim coach at Belleville High School, would coach the team.

The club would be made up of young swimmers, boys and girls up to 17-years-old.

For further information about the club, persons are asked to contact coach Brandell at Belleville High (697-9133) or at home (721-6923).

A LOT DEPENDS — If Belleville is to challenge pre-season Suburban Six Conference title favorites Allen Park and Bentley for the title, Tiger captain Dick Wenzel will have to play a key role. Wenzel is slated as the team's top hurler and is potentially dangerous at the plate.

'Mental' Slips Hurt Romulus

In the case of Romulus' baseball team — winning is a 'mental state'. That's how coach Lowell Johnson feels after the Eagles dropped their first two nonleague games last week.

Romulus gave up to Wayne 8-5 on Wednesday and surrendered to a highly-respected Lincoln Park, 7-6, on Friday.

"It's our mental mistakes that are killing us," said the Romulus coach, whose lineup has been riddled by graduation. "We stand around on infield pop flies and watch the ball land safely. No one wants to call for the ball."

"You can't do that and expect to win," said Johnson.

Romulus, however, went at Wayne and Lincoln Park expecting to win. They had both teams worried before yielding.

Lincoln Park scored the winning run in the bottom of the seventh on two "beautifully executed bunts", a single and a mental error.

Drawn in to cut down the runner at the plate after the bases were loaded, Romulus erased one potential run on a perfect peg to the plate. The second time around, however, it wasn't that sweet.

An outfield fly and the ensuing toss to home was cut off by one of the infielders — That cutoff cost Romulus the decisive run.

remarked coach Johnson. "This is how we're losing and we have to do something about it."

Leon Janes, in his first starting role on the mound, lasted but 2-2/3 innings as Lincoln Park erased a 4-0 first inning Romulus lead with three runs in the second, two more in the third.

The Railsplitters got one more in the fourth of losing hurler Lee Ballard.

That four run Romulus first went something like this: Ray Horn was hit by a wild pitch from starter Dale Brown. Bill Worden sacrificed and Paul Seestadt collected his first of two hits of the game, a single to left-center.

An error scored Horn, and with men on first and second, Frank Mayeran doubled. That blast was followed by another two-bagger, this time off the bat of John Toporek. That was all for Brown who was yanked for the eventual winner, Jose Farria.

Bruce Johnson singled in Mayeran to account for the Eagles' third inning run, while Seestadt's double with Ballard aboard drove in the final Romulus run.

Wayne exploded for four

Huron Ready For League Track Foes

With two nonleague tuneups to brush up for the Huron Conference track season, coach Lee Smeltzer's Chiefs are apparently ready to tangle with league adversaries who previously dominated them.

Smeltzer, in his first season as Huron's head track coach, takes his Chiefs up against Grosse Ile tomorrow in a dual meet which Huron will host.

Last night Huron launched the league season against Airport.

The Chiefs entered the meet with a 1-1 nonleague dual meet record, after Ida turned back the Chiefs 80-38. The Chiefs managed to gain three out of a possible 14 first places.

Jeff Reeves was clocked in 24.2 to win the low hurdles while Jim Callahan showed a 11:23.1 for the 2-mile run and Joe Richert ran a 5:14 even for his victory in the mile.

Though he finished second to John Firestone, Huron's Dave Edge came up with a fine performance in the 220, running a 24 seconds for the event.

Firestone was a double winner, taking the 220 in 23.9 while winning the 100 in 10.6.

Schimming's Debut Spoiled Monroe Passes Romulus

Monroe Catholic Central spoiled Wayne Schimming's debut as head track coach at Romulus High as the Huron Conference representative ran by the Eagles 78-35 on Thursday.

Schimming, who has taken over for the ailing Walt Gerulla, has a pair of nonleaguers this week on the schedule before opening up in the tough Twin-Valley.

Romulus managed to pick up four first places on the performances of Ron Buckley, Dave Brown, Ed Thompson and John Arrington. Buckley was first in the long-jump with a leap of 19'2 1/4" and placed second in the high jump with 5'6".

Brown cleared 12-feet to capture first place in the pole vault. Teammate Ed Thompson crossed the finish line with a 10.6 to win the 100, beating partner Brent Hamilton for top honors.

Hamilton was runnerup with 10.8. He also placed second in the 220 with a 24 flat. Arrington beat out Hamilton in the 220. The winner was clocked at 23.6.

Also impressive in the debut was long-jumper Tony Johnson, who settled for second to Buckley with a 19' 1 1/4" effort.

Romulus clashed with nonleague rival John Glenn last night and will travel to Cranbrook on Friday. Both meets are out of the conference tests.

WSU Awards Numerals

Two area athletes were among the 50 Western Michigan University students who received letter awards for participating in sports.

Bob Renton, a junior who prepped at Belleville High, was presented a varsity numeral in swimming, while Inkster's Bill Reed was awarded a freshman basketball letter.

Making his inaugural appearance, Thompson went the distance, striking out six while walking three. He gave up three hits — only one of those was a solid bingle, however, to earn the victory.

The loss went to John Kennedy who had control problems. Before he could find the plate, the Chiefs had scored all the runs they needed.

It's been a week of baseball surprises at Huron and one pleasant surprise is the pitching performance of sophomore Ron Thompson who made his first varsity start on the mound for coach Ron Smith's club.

Clashes With Wayne, Today It's Play Ball For Belleville

In the whirligig of high school sports, coaches learn to accept the lumps. And it appears this is the "Year of the Lump" for coach Vitold Kaminskis and Belleville's Tigers.

With only three returning lettermen — two regulars — back on the baseball roster, coach Kaminskis is bracing himself for one of "those long seasons".

"We got outside this week and, though I haven't seen much of our players because we were confined indoors," said the tiger mentor, "I can say, with three lettermen back, we're in trouble if we can't find replacements fast."

Belleville opens up the nonleague season today as host to a strong Wayne Memorial aggregation. The Tigers also tangle with nonleague rival, Romulus, on Friday at Romulus. Both games are slated for 4 p.m.

Belleville split even (8-8) last year and finished third behind Redford Union and Allen Park in the race for the Suburban Six Conference championship.

Kaminskis, who has been on the prep baseball scene for the past 15 years, figures Allen Park and R.U. again have the marbles to play for the baseball title.

"I'm not counting ourselves out," says the Belleville coach. "We have the raw material to potentially surprise many, but these teams, including Livonia Bentley, are stacked with veterans — so they already have the jump upon us."

One of the brighter spots to the Belleville season is the return to the lineup of Dick Wenzel, who was designated as this year's team captain.

Wenzel is being tutored for pitching duties, seeing only limited action in that capacity last year. The 17-year-old senior is a 6 foot righthander who made the grade on the varsity squad as a sophomore.

Wenzel will also double as an outfielder when not on the mound.

Also slated for mound duty is Ed Gielinski who is the second veteran left from the riddled roster. Dennis Badatol, the third letter-winner, will probably be shifted from the infield to the outfield.

Coach Kaminskis has cut his team down to 18 players and among the "impressionables" are second baseman Jerry Creek, a senior, and Bob White, a senior backstop.

With most of the other positions up for grabs, is it no wonder that the Belleville coach is talking about "taking his lumps" this season?

Drewitz Is Picked All-American

Sunkist "Coach & Athlete", a magazine devoted to national high school sports, is the latest to pay tribute to Rick Drewitz, Garden City West's sensational 6-7 senior center.

Sunkist named Drewitz, along with two other Michigan players, to its All-American high school basketball team. Rick was among 33 players representing 10 states picked on the Mid-West national squad.

Others from the state so honored were Sam Brady, Pontiac Catholic and Dennis Rusch, of Berrien Springs.

Belleville Golfers

Win Opening Meet

Belleville's Mike Randall fired a round of 42 at Fellow's Creek to lead the Tigers to an opening meet victory over non-league rival, Taylor Center, last week.

Randall's 42 earned for him medalist honors in the 185-199 decision.

Teammates Dave Keefer and Bob Bogardus chipped in with 46 and 47 scores, respectively. The Tigers will again be at their home course, Fellow's Creek, tomorrow to take on Suburban Six Conference rival, Redford Union.

Little League Try-Outs Listed

BELLEVILLE—All eligible boys who will be eight-years-old by Aug. 1, 1970, and no older than 12-years-old on July 31, 1970, will be given applications to join the Van Buren — Belleville Little League Baseball at their various schools, Chester Wojcie, president, announced Monday.

Huron Sets Sign-up

NEW BOSTON — The Huron Township Little League Baseball Association has announced that the sign-up of players will be held April 25 from 1 to 3 p.m.

Howard Schuman, president of the association, stated that boys in the seven to 15-year-old range, who want to participate in the Little League Baseball activity, should report at St. Stephen's School playground, on Huron River Drive. The season opens on June 1.

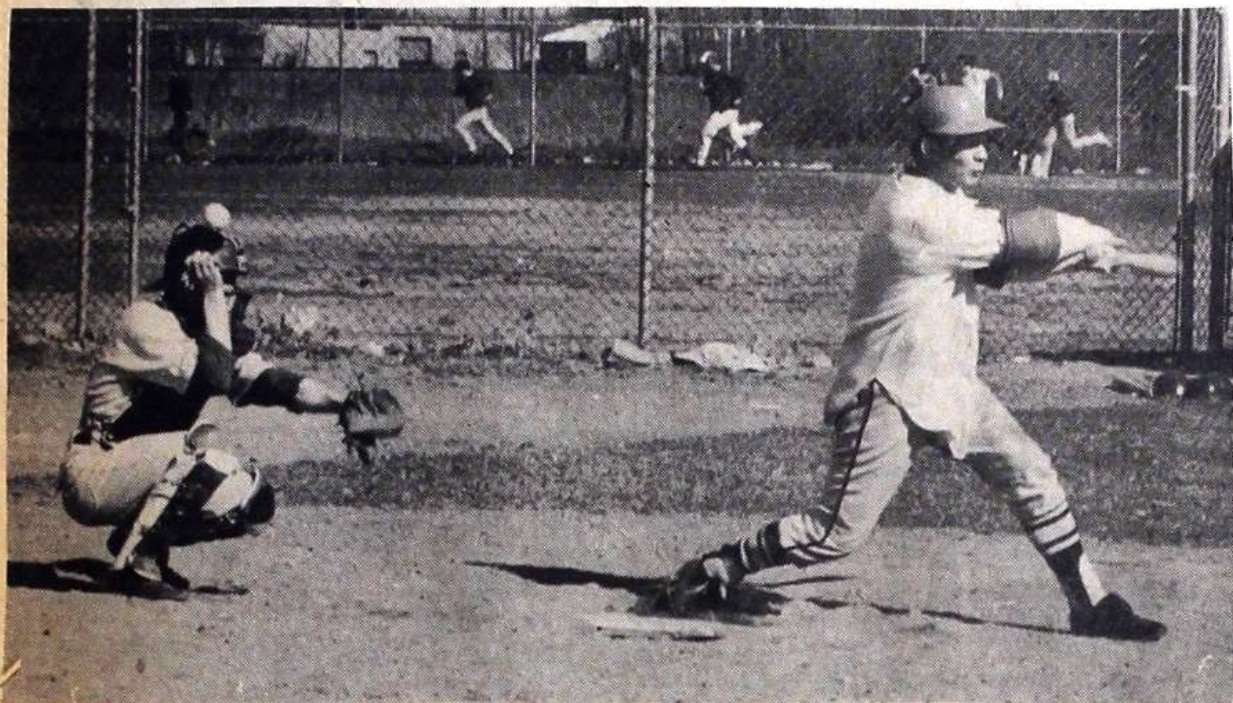

Dads and older brothers are asked to volunteer to serve as managers and coaches. Additional information can be had by calling 753-9505.

SHARPENING UP — Choking up on the bat to bunt is Belleville's Ed Gielinski who's brushing up his hitting and stance in practice. The real thing comes today at 4 p.m. when Wayne Memorial will be in town for the first Tiger test. Wayne has already played three games and is undefeated. Nice way to start a season is by knocking off the unbeaten, right coach?

TRASH IN HAND—Bob Hall of Belleville was one of Belleville High Students who participated in a "clean-up" campaign along Huron River Drive, opposite the Don's "Par-3" Golf Course last Saturday. The students, members of the German Club at Belleville High, took upon themselves to start cleaning up the area after permission was granted by the Van Buren Township officials, who expressed admiration for their efforts.

GETTING IN SHAPE — Belleville opens up the 1970 baseball campaign today at 4 p.m. as host to an undefeated Wayne Memorial squad. The nonleague game will give Tiger mentor Vitold Kaminskis his first chance to see his team in action this season. Above, a Belleville player takes hitting practice, but he'll have to do better than that — see the ball flying over the catcher's head?

Midland To Stage Baseball Camp

MIDLAND, Mich.—Charley "Paw Paw" Maxwell, former Detroit Tiger outfielder, will be guest instructor for three summer baseball camps for boys to be held on Northwood Institute campuses in Midland, Mich. and West Baden, Ind. The camps will be staffed by Pittsburgh Pirates scouts headed by Ken Beardslee of Kalamazoo.

Michigan camps will be June 21-27 for boys 10-13 and June 28-July 4 for boys 14-19. The Indiana camp will be July 12-17 for ages 10-19. Campers live in college dormitories.

Instruction includes baseball theory and fundamentals, practice drills and demonstrations. Boys participate in fielding and throwing drills, batting practice, running and sliding drills, game strategy such as cutoff plays, relay throws and actual game situations. Films provided by professional baseball organizations are shown nightly.

Staff members include Frank Donovan, Newark, Ohio, former first baseman in the New York Yankee organization and coach of the Newark Catholic High baseball team; Dawayne Heath, Kalamazoo, former Pirate organization pitcher; Dave Kelitz, Mt. Pleasant, freshman baseball coach at Central Michigan University, a native of Midland and an All-American baseball player at CMU in 1964; Bob Ruck, St. Louis, Mo., former Yankee and Pirate organization player and member of the All-Army baseball team; and Tom Venditelli, Newark, Ohio, former Yankee and Kansas City organization player and All-Service player with the U.S. Marines.

Further information and application blanks for the camp can be obtained by writing: Ken Beardslee, Pirates Scout, 6340 Plainfield, Kalamazoo, Mich. 49004.

Jack Gracia's sacrifice fly scored the runner from third. Guntow took the opening day loss from Airport which rallied for two runs in the third inning and three tallies in each of the fourth and fifth frames to hand Huron an 8-4 setback.

Guntow lasted until the fifth and was yanked with the score 5-0 against him. He gave up four of the five Airport hits.

Craig Adaline and Thompson followed in relief. Adaline working the fourth and fifth, (they got three runs off of him) and Thompson finished up the final frame.

Delano and Gracia accounted for four of the seven Huron hits. Garcia bagged a triple and single, while Delano socked a pair of singles.

"I feel if we had had the benefit of a nonleague game prior to our league opener the outcome could have been different," said coach Smith.

Smith added that he was pleased with the performances of his juniors — Delano, Sumnick and Gracia — who, thus far, have accounted for eight of the team's 12 hits.

"I don't want to say that we are serious title contenders," remarked coach Smith. "But I feel we are going to surprise many who think they are if we keep up this pace."

Huron is on the road again today. They collide with Carlson. They'll be home on Friday, however, taking on Blissfield.

Commission Approves Plan To Battle Drug Abuse

Plans for a unique residential rehabilitation center for youthful offenders and a county-wide delinquency and drug abuse program for schools have been approved by a committee of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

Also approved by the Board's Law Enforcement and Public Safety Committee, meeting April 6, was a proposed series of "Voice of Youth" forums designed to develop decision-making ability among youth.

A total of $410,900 in Federal matching funds will be applied for under the Safe Streets Act to cover sixty percent of the cost of the three programs. Local private and public agencies, including the County and New Detroit, Inc. will supply the balance in cash and services.

"Most crime is committed by juveniles and young adults, so programs such as these three get right to the roots of the problem," said Commissioner Ralph Patrick Turco, of Westland, D-District 25, Law Enforcement and Public Safety chairman. Implementation of the programs hinges on receipt of Federal funds.

The three proposals were prepared by the Wayne County coordinating committee on crime control and prevention, an umbrella body representing some 20 agencies in Detroit and greater Wayne County.

The residential rehabilitation center would serve 100 youth, aged 17 to 23, and would be operated by the Young Men's Christian Association of Metropolitan Detroit. Most would be first offenders.

The center would be staffed by counselors and probation officers. It would give judges an alternative to sentencing young men to prison where contact with hardened criminals often turns them into repeaters.

The center would provide more supervision than the present probation system.

The school delinquency and drug abuse program would be operated by the Wayne County Intermediate School District. Counselors would work with personnel in 38 local school districts to teach them techniques for dealing with delinquency and drug abuse and to establish new programs for meeting those problems.

The "Voice of Youth" programs would be operated by the Metropolitan Detroit Youth Foundation, Inc. United Community Services and local universities would help fund the program.

A series of youth forums would give young people an opportunity to develop skills in decision-making and leadership. This will include "a practical action-oriented study of developments within the high school and college student movements and a constructive force to influence these movements."

Wayne County's Board of Commissioners is studying the complex problem of how to clean up the serious pollution of the Middle Rouge River.

The solution will not come easily because of the multiple governmental jurisdictions encompassed by the 117-square-mile Middle Rouge drainage basin.

A dozen cities and townships in western Wayne and Oakland counties lie wholly or partly within the area drained by the 31-mile-long Middle Rouge. Some 200,000 persons live within the basin.

The Middle Rouge runs into the Rouge River, thus contributing to the pollution of the Detroit River and Lake Erie.

A special committee of the County Board of Commissioners met April 9 with local and State officials and representatives of County departments to discuss how to approach the problem.

Those in attendance included Northville Township Supervisor Gunnar Stromberg, Plymouth City Manager Richard Blodgett, Livonia City Engineer William Strasser, Northville Township Clerk Eleanor McHammond, Plymouth Township Consultant

Gregory W. Dean, and Plymouth Industrial Development Coordinator Frank Arlen.

Also attending was Wayne E. Denniston, of the Michigan Water Resources Commission.

County Drain Commissioner Henry V. Herrick said that his office has the legal power to build the multi-county facilities necessary to alleviate the pollution and recommended that he be given the job.

The County Road Commission recommended that a Middle Rouge watershed council be established to coordinate cleanup efforts.

The commissioners' committee decided also to explore the possibility of working with the Huron River watershed council before deciding which direction in which to move.

The headwaters of the Middle Rouge are in the Walled Lake area in Novi Township in southwestern Oakland County. Communities which lie wholly or partly within the drainage basin include Walled Lake, Novi, Northville city and township, Plymouth city and township, Livonia, Westland, Garden City and Dearborn Heights.

Because of the jurisdictional complexities, the meeting was held by the committee on county reorganization of the Board of Commissioners. Board vice-chairman James DeSana, of Wyandotte, D-District 23, is committee chairman.

The meeting was requested by Commissioner Carl Pursell, Plymouth, R-District 26, whose district is within the Middle Rouge basin.

Other members of the DeSana committee are:

Joseph Cardinal, Dearborn, D-Dist. 21, vice chairman, Harvey J. Beadle, Redford, D-Dist. 19; Freddie G. Burton, Detroit, D-Dist. 5; Rudy Hickey, Ecorse, D-Dist. 18; Eugene A. Sikora, Detroit, D-Dist. 7; Philip A. Tannian, Detroit, D-Dist. 15; and Frederick Yates, Detroit, D-Dist. 9.

PETITPREN: "In politics you move on or stay where you are, or go out. Now is my time to move."

Faust Hits Statements In Political Opener

WESTLAND--The first volley in what might become one of the most heated election contests in Western Wayne County this year was fired by State Senator William Faust at a press conference Friday.

Faust, a Democratic incumbent, jabbed his likely opponent, 37th District Democratic State Representative Vincent Petitpren for making "false" statements about Faust, and dared Petitpren to enter the race for the Democratic nomination for the State Senate in District 13.

District 13 includes all of Western Wayne County south of Joy Road, and includes Taylor.

Both Westlanders, Petitpren, serving his third term in the House, and Faust, completing his first term in the Senate, have been political associates since both were active in Nankin Township politics. Faust is a former Nankin Supervisor, and Petitpren is a former Township Board trustee.

Said Faust in a prepared statement:

"During the last few months personal friends and several members of the news media here today have repeatedly called to my attention that Representative Vincent Petitpren intends to seek my post in the Michigan Senate.

"Although I have not finalized any decision to seek re-election, I can only say that Representative Petitpren, or anyone else for that matter, has as much right as I to run for this office. I do not feel annoyed to the job, and can only add 'welcome' to those who toss their hat in this ring. After all, that's what democracy is all about!

"But at the same time I was informed of Mr. Petitpren's campaign plans, further information was disclosed which indicated Mr. Petitpren was either naively misinformed or intentionally untruthful about me and my activities in the Senate and at home.

"Obviously, if the latter is correct, the intention was to smear and discredit my services in the Senate and, of course, to place a halo on Mr. Petitpren's own head in order to give the impression he is the State's answer to the white knight.

"However, I have never been made aware of any difficulty between Mr. Petitpren and myself. I see and greet him often in the Capitol and at home, and he has never once indicated any displeasure with my work. In fact, his personal actions towards me have been quite to the contrary--the big hello, the glad hand, etc., etc., and etc.,

"How then could I suspect disapproval?

"In my three years in the Senate, I have floor managed everyone of Mr. Petitpren's bills, and I have passed everyone of them. He has expressed gratitude to me for this, and we have worked particularly close on many matters that directly affect this area. In his last campaign I prepared the great bulk of his campaign material, raised money, and contributed financially to his efforts.

"Our voting records are very similar. And since we are both Democrats, it hardly appears Mr. Petitpren will oppose me on issues. There are no major political issues.

"I personally do not feel he can make any case on his effectiveness over mine. Remember, I have passed all of his bills in the Senate, but he has been totally ineffective in getting my own measures through the House. Since Mr. Petitpren is an honorable man, I cannot visualize him holding them up on purpose. After all, these bills passed the Senate overwhelmingly so they are not extremely controversial.

"I owe no political debts to anyone," Petitpren said.

For Petitpren, attendance is an important issue.

"Are you there when the final vote of important measures are taken? Are you representing the people?"

These are the questions Petitpren has flung back to Sen. William Faust in reply to Faust's recent press conference.

Petitpren Aims To Prove It's A Good Time To Move

WESTLAND--There is a time in a politician's career that he must make his move if he wants to progress.

State Representative Vincent Petitpren's time has come.

Petitpren's name has often been mentioned in the same breath as contenders for the 13th State Senatorial District, presently occupied by William Faust.

Both Democrats, but split on many issues and supported by separate factions on local levels, they may lock horns, when and if Petitpren announces that he is definitely running.

So far he hasn't, but the 37th State Representative

District office holder is anything but biding his time until the announcement deadline, June 14.

In fact, at Monday noon, Petitpren announced that he had not, up to that time, decided to run, but in "view of the sudden assault, Faust's press conference if I should run, I will engage an attorney because of the history of previous campaigns (by Sen. Faust).

Petitpren mentioned that previous campaigns by Faust for Congressional seats produced tactics that he himself would not get involved with without an attorney.

Recently a steward of UAW Local 250 (Gar Wood Industries), John Thorton argued with union members about the attendance records of Sen. Faust.

Faust's attendance in the Senate was brought up by John Gay, a Tom Brown supporter, previous to last year's City primary.

Thorton, a longtime friend of Petitpren, said he would find out and Petitpren, with the help of a legislative aide, went through eight volumes of Michigan Congressional Acts during the last two-and-a-half years.

And according to Petitpren's definition of absence: "not physically being present to represent your constituents," Sen. Faust was absent 72 times out of 141 session days during 1967, 41 times out of 101 session days during 1968 and 33 absences out of 147 sessions during 1969.

Faust's attendance according to Petitpren, amounts to approximately 62.6% for the three years mentioned.

Petitpren states that his own attendance figures are about 96% and are generously set at a lower figure.

Faust was in an accident previous to his election and lost the use of his legs, thereby confining him to a wheelchair. It was during the coldest days of early 1967, he states, that the cold affected him painfully and made him almost immobile.

Petitpren's consideration of running depends on how

Is your home going to turn into a desert this winter?

In wintertime, people in houses with flame-type heating wake up mornings with that stuffed-up feeling. With hoarse, dry throats. Furniture dries out and starts creaking.

Sound familiar? You bet it does. The best way to stop it is with electric heat. You see, electric heat isn't a dry or drying heat.

So you usually don't need a humidifier. The moisture from bathing and cooking is all you need for natural comfort.

An Edison-Approved Electric Heating Contractor will be glad to tell you all about comfortable, moisture-retaining electric heat. He'll figure your operating cost, and there'll be no obligation. And right now, your contractor's offering a $100 trade-in on your old heating system. Call him for an electric heat survey, or mail the coupon below.

He'll show you how to turn your desert into an oasis.

Be sure to measure accurately.

Clearly indicate stud lines.

Butt first panel to corner.

Mark panel for perfect fit.

Paneling a room is ideal, simple

Work can be done over old walls or on studs

Paneling is ideal for application in either remodeling or new construction. If you are intending to remodel, a few simple steps will provide the most accurate way to install factory finished paneling.

When paneling directly over an old wall, sand any rough spots or any unevenness out to obtain a flush surface. If sanding will not take out any severe unevenness, it is suggested that furring strips be used. (Furring and framing techniques will be printed on future Home Improvement Pages.)

On exterior masonry walls above or below grade, be sure the wall is properly waterproofed before studding or furring is applied. Where extreme humidity may cause condensation on the inside of exterior masonry walls, use a vapor barrier paper or film to eliminate moisture penetration to panel.

On plaster walls, the paneling can be applied directly if the wall is true. Nail through plaster into studs.

For new construction, paneling can be applied directly to the studs. However, for additional strength, fire resistance and sound deadening, 3/8-inch or 1/2-inch gypsum wallboard is recommended as a backing behind factory finished paneling.

Plywood sheathing in a 5/16-inch thickness also is ideal for backing behind new paneling.

A proper way to install your own paneling is as follows:

A.-Remove old molding and trim (if desirable, you can retain the old molding and butt panels to fit.) Measure accurately your wall for height and length. In older homes, height may vary due to settling. Measure the height in several places to assure accurate fitting. Panels should have 1/4-inch clearance top and bottom. Cut panels if necessary.

B.-Probe through the wall with a long nail or drill to find the exact location of studs. Most studs are on 16-inch centers. After locating the studs, measure off the remaining studs and mark the centers of the studs with a chalk line. Remember, studs are not always straight so it is a good idea to probe at several heights to assure accurate nailing. Then mark stud locations lightly on floor and ceiling to guide you in nailing into the studs. Grooves in panels will usually fall at the studs 16 inches apart.

C.-Put the first panel into place and butt it to the adjacent wall in corner. Make sure the panel is completely plumb and the outer edge is parallel with the plumb line. If outer edge does not fall directly on the stud, cut to fit.

D.-If the corner is irregular such as around a fireplace, cement block, etc., use a small compass to scribe the panel for perfect fitting. Position the panel for the proper height around on floor or level block. Allow 1/4-inch top and bottom.

E.-Butt second panel to the first with a small block and affix into place. With the first panel on the stud, the rest of the 4-foot panels also should land on studs across the wall, assuming the stud spacing is uniformly 16 inches apart. If you are using adhesive, however, panels do not need to meet on a stud providing you are paneling over backer board or an old wall. For a large area of paneling, allow 1/4-inch at the end of the wall for expansion. Molding will cover the expansion space.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This week's information about how to panel a room in one's home was provided by Fingerle-Hollister-Wood Lumber Co., 822 E. Michigan Ave., Ypsilanti.

Public Hearing Held On Height

Public Hearings on two petitions to vacate alleys between Auburn and Sunset and between Ann and Blunk, Farmer to Junction were set for June 1 by the Plymouth City Commissioners.

Apartment Dwellers Seek Family Feeling

With apartments representing more than 50 percent of all housing starts - and estimates as high as 80 percent in some urban areas - there have to be as many reasons for the apartment boom as there are floors in a luxury high-rise.

The move to multi-family living is often made for convenience and economic considerations: high home construction costs, shrinking land availability, and a desire to escape home maintenance.

A high proportion of tenants are childless young-marrieds, singles and empty-nesters, for whom home ownership is unattractive or impractical.

But whatever former or potential homeowners may want to leave behind when they move to an apartment, the one thing they seek to duplicate - or improve - is single-family home features.

These range from convenience appliances (dishwashers, refrigerator-freezers, garbage disposals), to touches of gracious living (fireplaces, full carpeting, wood windows and doors, and air conditioning).

Also included are outright luxuries, such as saunas, swimming pools and exercise rooms.

But, whatever the "extras," tenant demands for them are so strong that apartment owners compete to offer them.

What tenants seem to be seeking most, however, is a sort of single-family home "feeling." They want apartments with attractive exteriors and comfortable interiors - not austere institutional-type buildings.

They also favor distinctive building features such as casement and "picture" windows, patios and balconies.

Upgrading in window style and quality and extensive use of outdoor extensions are, in fact, primary changes in the modern apartment picture.

When providing these features, many apartment builders use maintenance-free materials such as Perma-Shield vinyl clad wood windows and gliding patio doors which require no painting and will not pit, rust or corrode.

Sash and frames have the look of finished wood. Welded insulating glass, which eliminates storm sash and reduces window cleaning, is standard.

Benefits to tenants and owners include minimal maintenance, year-round comfort and convenience, and exterior and interior beauty.

Schoolcraft Joins In Study

Poet Robert Bly will present a poetry reading at 8 p.m., Monday night in the Liberal Arts Building theater at Schoolcraft. Admission to the reading, which is sponsored by the college's Humanities Series, is free and is open to the public.

writer Kenneth Rexroth said, "Robert Bly is today one of the leaders of a poetic revival which has returned American literature to the world community."

His own poems are active, and they are active on broad levels of experience. If you compare the best of them with the work of the outstanding younger members of the Old Establishment which Bly and his associates have overthrown, the most noticeable thing is that there's more to them.

"He does more, knows more, thinks more, feels more. A wide grasp of experience, an octave or more in each hand, is not just a sign of energy, it is a cause of responsibility. That is what gives the poems their great moral impact."

Born in Minnesota in 1926, Bly graduated from Harvard in 1950 and after some time in New York moved to a farm in Minnesota where he decided he "could live cheaply, on less money than was needed in the city." In 1958 he started a magazine called "The Fifties," which later became "The Sixties," and is now "The Seventies," which has published many European and South American poets for the first time in this country.

In a recent assessment of Bly's work, poet, critic, and

We Neglected To Credit League of Women Voters

Our apology is extended to the League of Women Voters in Livonia, a group of 95 ladies dedicated to keeping voters in Western Wayne County's largest city more informed.

It was the League of Women Voters which provided anonymously — due to our inadvertent omission of the league's name — the "question and answer guide" of the candidates in the Livonia election that appeared in the Eagle two weeks ago.

The guide, a strictly factual report that takes no sides, was the result of a lot of work by the League's Voter Board of Service and its chairman, Mrs. Juan Dawson.

The League, which has had a chapter in Livonia for about nine years, is celebrating its 50th year nationally, according to Livonia President Mrs. Ferl Thomas. Growing out of the Women's Suffrage movement, the league was formed to keep voters informed about issues and candidates, the latter on a nonpartisan basis.

Board members, the president and her husband are not allowed to be active in any political party or work for any candidate, although some individual members of the League are party members.

The League, which meets at least once a month, does study issues — national, state and local — including school issues is currently studying land use in Livonia.

The organization, according to Mrs. Thomas, hopes to begin working in the area of voter registration.

Any woman resident of Livonia who is of voting age and a citizen of the United States can join the organization. Mrs. Thomas' phone number is 422-6425.

And once again, ladies, please accept our apologies for omitting your organization's name two weeks ago.

Is The Income Tax The Fairest Way?

The argument over the Detroit income tax between Detroiters and suburbanites is an old one. Too much rancor and division has already occurred.

Now the City of Detroit is looking for an opportunity to further tax not only its own residents, but its non-resident workers as well. Suburbanites will complain that the move is unfair, just as the Detroit administrative official will declare the necessity of the move.

There are good arguments for the non-resident tax.

Not the least of these is the fact that suburbanites must take some responsibility for the core city or face the inevitable death of the city, and the resultant crippling of the suburbs.

This is just a simple way of saying that we are all in this thing together.

But is the non-resident income tax, which touches only those who work in Detroit but live in the suburbs, really the fairest way to have all metropolitan residents share the common burden?

Perhaps the answer is no.

What would make more sense to us is the uniting of area units of government into regional associations for the purpose of providing some of the more necessary services that both city and suburbs need.

Instead of making Detroit stick its hand out for more money every few years, why don't we make the problems of the metropolitan area the responsibility of all of the people in the metropolitan area?

This is an old song, of course. Bringing units of government together in order to centralize efforts to keep government costs down and to cure some of the more pressing ills of the metropolis is a popular notion.

Unfortunately, we haven't tried it nearly enough.

Let's end the income tax dispute and take the fiscal bull by the horns. More regional effort is needed now.

Tommy Farrell's Goof!

BY DON HOENSHELL

Tommy Farrell is going to try to forget the goof that handed Democratic State Senator Sander M. Levin a bit of campaign fodder and he wishes everyone else would, too.

Right now Farrell is up to his ears in explanation and could use a vacation.

Crunch.

Farrell, as Whitmer's public information chief, collected the clippings on Milliken's announcement of a 10-point program last December to breathe new life into the Upper Peninsula economy.

Farrell splashed headlines across a cover and published 100 copies of a 16-page booklet to show state officials what a grand job the Department of Commerce is doing.

From that point, everything unraveled.

Republican State Chairman William L. McLaughlin asked for 500 copies. So Farrell said the price would be $80, he'd send a bill. That was to be the end of it.

The 500 copies for McLaughlin got lost in the Commerce Department's printing operation. Another 500 was ordered. Then part of the original 500 showed up.

"Look, I'm an old firehorse newspaperman," said Farrell. "I'm for information and I want to get as much of it in circulation as I can."

Farrell decided it would be a waste to let the extra copies gather dust, so he sent them to newspapers with some other departmental releases.

Levin's people got a copy and cried foul — still unaware that the Republican State Central Committee had finally got its 500 copies.

"It was a good campaign thing," said a GOP staffer here. Levin, getting an early foot in the governor's race, made a whole speech out of it at a Grand Rapids campaign meeting. He said Farrell's enterprise using tax money was more political than service.

Farrell was aghast.

"I didn't want to be a bureaucrat about this," he said. "It was information and I wanted to get it out. Sure the headlines were favorable to Milliken."

"But I can't tell a deskman on a newspaper what to write in his headlines even if I wanted to."

Farrell started his adult life as a newspaperman in Grand Rapids, later going to United Press International in Detroit and Lansing, then to state government, then the Michigan Catholic Conference, now back to state government again.

That's what gave Farrell his yen for information.

Maybe he's overtrained, but it's his very own yen.

An Historical Repeat

By Dick McKnight

There must be some special significance in the ascent of Edward McNamara to the mayoralty of Livonia in view of an incredibly similar result in the Westland city elections last September.

In that race Gene McKinney eliminated incumbent Mayor Thomas H. Brown in the Democratic primary, ending Brown's five-year tenure as the executive head of Nankin Township and Westland.

McKinney and McNamara are alike in more ways than are obvious on the surface—the youthful appearance, the good Irish name, the pretty blond wife etc.

Both men know their way around the local world of politics. Both were city councilmen when they ran for mayor, each with two years to run on his council term.

Each had developed a significant following of his own before entering the mayoral wars. Both faced supremely confident, outwardly untouchable and well-entrenched incumbents.

Both benefited handsomely from a general feeling in their communities that a change was needed. Each could count among his supporters a large number of persons dedicated to the singular goal of turning out the incumbent.

In more significant ways, McNamara and McKinney agreed. Both said they could make government more streamlined, effective and professional. In short, the style was important, but the substance mattered, too.

Harvey W. Moelke and Thomas H. Brown had similarities, too. Each saw himself as a sort of 'man of the people.' With apparent confidence in the voters to return them to office, both Moelke and Brown chose to wage campaigns based on showing opposition to be poorly motivated and self-concerned.

Both men chose to stand on their records, neither to them realizing that the voters were looking for new ideas, not old results. Both styled themselves as complete public servants and seemed resentful of criticism.

At any rate, the voters of Westland and Livonia were enough alike in their concerns, and in their reactions to the campaigns, that they came up with similar decisions.

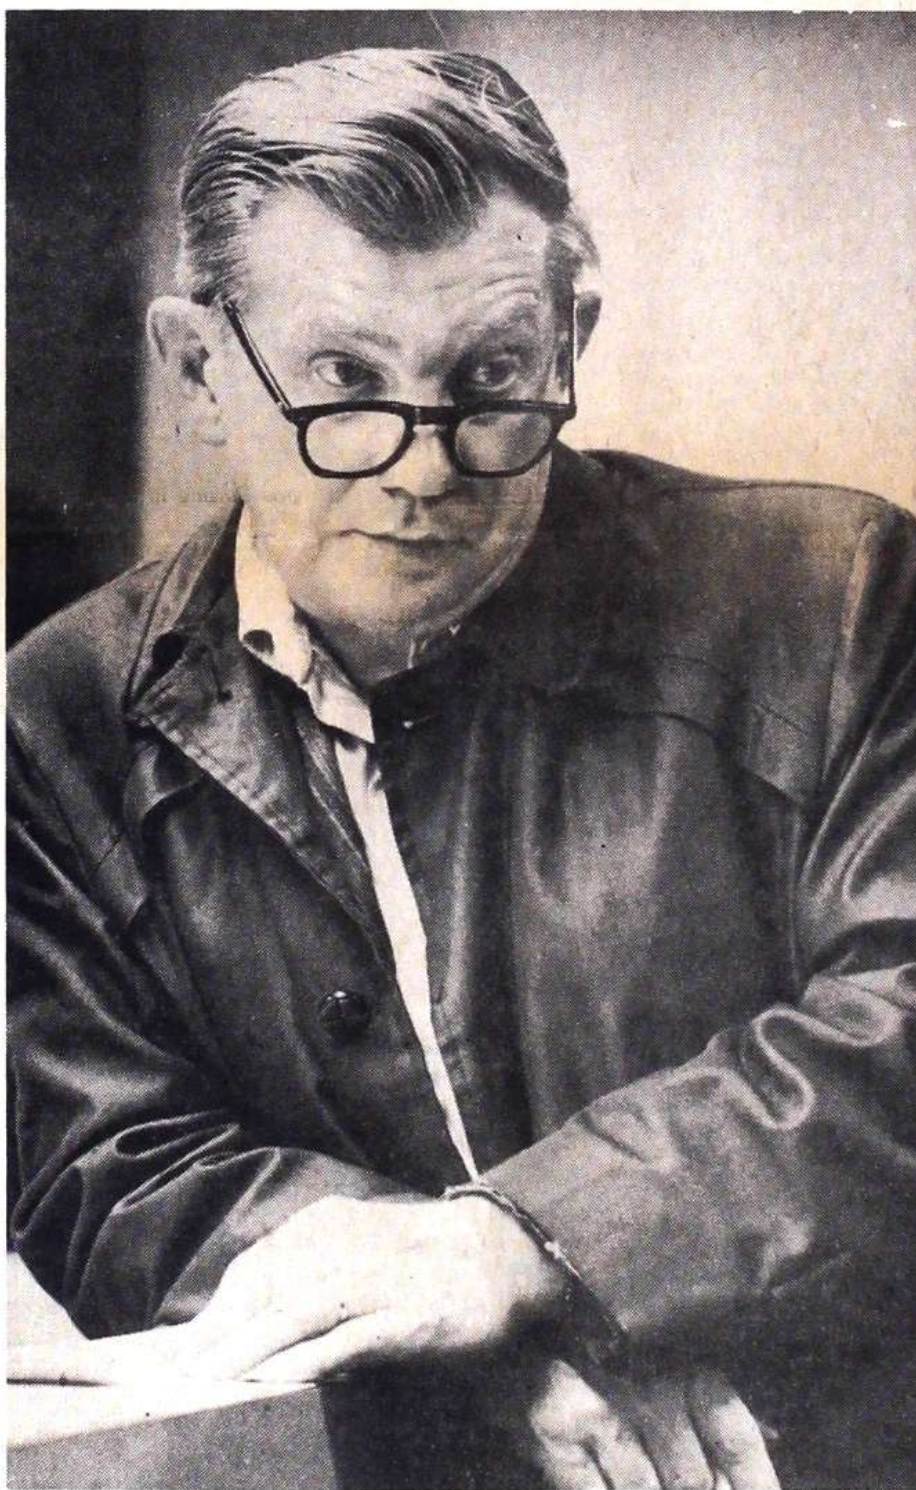

To McNamara's credit, it would appear that his victory was the more impressive of the two. Moelke's power had been rated higher than Brown's right up until the final days of the campaign.

Perhaps there is something to be said for the fact that local politics run in cycles that defy personalities. Isn't Orville Hubbard the exception that proves the rule? It just might be true that no matter what a politician does, somebody will do it better in another few years.

Right now it is McKinney and McNamara who face the challenge. Everything is on their side except time.

Election Reflections: Watching The Count

Viewpoint

Why Can't It Work?

By Dann Barkume

Political campaigns, regardless of the office at stake, generate a peculiar reaction in the voters. People who never give politics a thought suddenly become self-appointed political experts who comment on the proposals and platforms of the candidates with the greatest authority.

The races for mayor and city council seats in Inkster have another aspect which promises to promote even greater interest among Inkster voters. Now that the primary is history, those involved in the general election must face up to the fact that skin pigmentation could well be a deciding factor in the general election next month.

John Mulhern and Edward Bivens will square off in the mayoral race. Council seats in the six districts will most likely be split down the middle, racially, when the final votes are tabulated.

Perhaps such a council would serve the city well. Inkster's white-black population breakdown is just about even and both ethnic groups will receive representation on the council.

What would result if Inkster voters elected a council that was half white and half black? What would become of city government if half of the city council had a different skin color than the other half? What would happen to the city of Inkster if such a development should occur?

Nothing.

Most candidates who were successful in the primary elections are qualified to serve the city of Inkster. Most candidates vying for seats in the general election are concerned about Inkster's future. Most candidates in the general election race can do the job.

A black-white council could be the best thing that ever happened to the city itself. The decisions would be mutual. Agreements would be mutual and residents would be brought closer together through council actions.

It's ridiculous to think that such a council would not be successful. We are all intelligent human beings, regardless of our skin color, and intelligent human beings are supposed to be able to make decisions effectively.

Race should not even be considered an issue. If a man is the most qualified to serve in a particular position, he should be given that position, in the best interests of all involved.

People make the difference and it is up to the people to decide.

Lift Up Your Head

Property Decision Welcome

By Rosemary Wolock

Judge Ralph Freeman's decision was welcomed in this corner. The U.S. district judge, March 31, struck down the Inkster charter provision that made property ownership a requirement for candidacy for public office.

A fact that was uncovered by candidate Rolland Stapleton and his attorney, Abdeen Jabara, is that almost one-fifth of Inkster residents were deprived of the privilege of running for public office by this provision.

Twenty per cent of Inksterites live in apartments or townhouses or rent homes or live in trailers or reside in public housing. These statistics show that the requirement was particularly discriminatory in Inkster.

For centuries property ownership has been the basis for voting, holding public office and paying taxes among other things. But owning land does not mean wealth, as it once did. As a matter of fact, many suburban homeowners would probably testify to the fact that, with the current tax rate, it may mean something more like poverty.

On the other hand, it is quite conceivable that a person living in a high-rent apartment may have a great deal more wealth than the owner of a 50 x 100 foot lot. Obviously something ought to be done about real property, or land, being used as the basis for taxes.

In addition America is becoming increasingly urbanized and it is going to become less and less practical for people to own homes. As housing needs become more acute, the ownership of a single family home will become a luxury rather than the norm.

One reason which has been put forth for the property ownership requirement for public office is that, supposedly, people who own property are more interested in the community. In my opinion, however, a person who has lived all his life in rented housing in Inkster may have an even greater stake in good government.

As an apartment dweller who has a great deal of interest in the Inkster community, I would hate to think I would be barred from seeking public office just because I do not own a square inch of property.

Incidentally, Rolland Stapleton was criticised because he was supposedly more interested in "making law" than in getting an Inkster council seat. The implication was that he could have produced a deed for a square foot of property in his mother's back yard, if he were really interested in being a councilman.

This was before the court decision, when Stapleton was not being given a chance in a million of a favorable ruling. I must beg to differ.

To my mind the fact that Stapleton pounded loudly at the front door instead of sneaking in through a basement window is to be commended, not criticized. I welcome a candidate with more ideals than political ambitions.

Three Worth Seeing--- 'Z', 'Cuckoo', 'Anne'

It isn't enough for a movie to entertain these days--it has to accomplish something. But as the gulf between the generations widens, it becomes more and more evident that fewer and fewer movies can satisfy the entire Spectrum of the movie-going public.

Consider the movies which, in the young idiom, are meaningful and significant: "Alice's Restaurant," "Medium Cool," "Putney Swope" and "Easy Rider." There was an enormous range of quality in these movies, from excellent to pitiful; just because a cinematographer is "serious" according to the modern generation doesn't necessarily make him good. But at least there can be little doubt that this is where it's at.

Now consider where the Oscars went. Good old John Wayne. Goldie Hawn, for heaven's sake. Maggie Smith and Gig Young, both giving outstanding and thoroughly deserving performances, but "safe" ones, not calculated to upset the adult world.

So one can ask if there still are movies capable of pleasing both worlds. Yes there are--and as exhibit A, I offer "Z."

Greece today is a military-controlled police state--and Greece is no banana republic or emerging nation--Greece is the cradle of western democracy. King Constantine is in exile; Prime Minister Papaandreu was ousted.

"Z" is a story of Greece in its pre-dictatorship days, when Gregorios Lambrakis, a leader of Papaandreu's party was deliberately hit by a delivery truck driven by an agent of police Inspector General Mitsou. Police attempted to cover up the murder as an accident, but a dedicated Athenian prosecutor general, Killias, conducted a brilliant investigation and forced the jailing of the corrupt rightist police officials.

Papaandreu rode to government on the heels of this scandal, but, as the world knows, a military group followed and the police general was cleared of all charges and released.

Costa-Gavras has captured it all in a biting, savage semi-documentary which copped the Oscar as the year's best foreign film. A lean and exciting detective story for the adults, a harsh indictment for the young idealists. A film for all seasons.

This is clearly a director's film. There are no grandiose performances, no camera gimcrackery. Just a single tempo, swiftly mounting to "J'accuse."

It used to be that you could comfortably catch a double bill at the neighborhood theater including newsreel and cartoon and be home by 11 p.m., but no longer. Not when every film runs over two hours whether it deserves to or not.

A case in point is "Sterile Cuckoo," which offers Liza Minelli in a brilliant interpretation of a neurotic coed, desperately seeking to hold on to a love affair with a young collegiate, repelling him with every advance.

Pookie, unloved and insecure, comes on like gangbusters, too forceful and too crude, occasionally morbid and never truthful. Yet there is something appealing hidden in the recesses, something which attracts young Wendell Burton into a doomed affair. But Pookie is a crippled soul; the ending is inevitable.

Miss Minelli's outstanding efforts aren't enough to keep you in your seat for two hours, however, of girl loses boy, girl gets boy, girl loses boy. It sadly looks like they neglected to let the film editor play around with the rushes.

"Anne of the Thousand Days" is an old fashioned romance, almost anachronistic in these mind-blowing days, but there is nothing old-fashioned about the professional jobs of Richard Burton as Henry VIII and Genevieve Bujold as Anne Boleyn. Questions may be raised about Burton's interpretation; his Henry is well-bred and refined. Henry VIII may well have been so, but custom today prefers to think of him as a gross glutton.

More interesting is Miss

Bujold, bringing an interesting dimension to the character of the woman for whom Henry destroyed the Roman Catholic Church in England when he could not obtain a divorce from Catherine of Aragon, who bore him no sons.

The maturation of Miss Bujold's character from youthful, innocent, unable to escape from the King's passion to a seeker of power, to a dignified victim is the outstanding display of acting techniques in a picture full of professional interpretations.

The pageantry, as expected, is colorful. "Anne of the Thousand Days" is essentially a woman's picture, but a remarkably full-blooded one.

A NEW WAY of EASY LIVING

"Mobile Homes"

Can I afford a Mobile Home? Buying and paying for a mobile home is surprisingly easy. The interior of a mobile home can compare with and sometimes outdo a home. The down payments on a mobile home are relatively small as compared to that of a home of the same luxurious quality. The length of a loan on a mobile home is between 7 to 10 years rather than almost three times that in some cases for a home. This means you own your mobile home a lot sooner. The rent you pay each month for your lot, when added up is in most cases a lot less than the yearly property taxes on a home. Now, ask yourself again, can I afford a mobile home? Don't be surprised if the answer is yes. If it is no, come in to these dealers and look around, then reread this ad and ask the question again.

Sen. Fitzgerald

Sen. Stamm

Bipartisan Flavor Added To Fete

Bipartisan participation for the testimonial dinner honoring Senator William Faust was announced this week.

Scheduled as principal speakers for the event are Democratic minority leader, Senator George Fitzgerald, and the Republican chairman of the Senate education committee, Senator Anthony Stamm.

Announcement of the speakers was made by the dinner's co-chairmen, William Borrusch and Russ Tuttle.

"We're delighted that the highest ranking Democrat in the Senate will be here to honor Senator Faust," Borrusch said, "and the appearance of Senator Stamm is an outstanding and dramatic tribute to Faust's work."

Senator Fitzgerald was elevated to the minority leadership in January of this year. He has been a member of the Senate since 1964. He lives in Grosse Pointe Park and is considered one of the Senate's finest orators.

Senator Stamm is from Kalamazoo and is a leading expert in the fields of education and county law. He was elected to the Senate in 1966, after serving 26 years as Kalamazoo County Clerk.

Tuttle said tickets for the dinner, scheduled May 16 at the Garrison House in Garden City, will go on sale next week. He said a list of committee members will be published at that time, plus the names of people who will have tickets.

More than 500 are expected to attend.
